Dysphagia

(Swallowing Disorders)

Dysphagia is the medical term for swallowing difficulties. Dysphagia can be serious. Pills that are too large for swallowing may enter the throat and block the passage of airway. Some people with dysphagia have problems swallowing certain pills or liquids, while others can't swallow at all.

Many people have trouble swallowing pills. Grinding the pills into powder and mixing them with a liquid makes it easier to take medicines. Manual grinding of medicine is an extra action that takes time but also leads to physical complaints. In addition, unwanted dust formation can occur, with possible damage to health.

WHY SEVERO ELECTRIC PILLS GRINDER?

Severo – fast and convenient

With the electric medicine grinder Severo, all these problems are a thing of the past. It is as simple as it gets. Put the medicine in the special Severo Cup, place it in the grinder, close the hatch, and in an instant the medication will be available as a powder again. The Severo Cup can also be used to mix the medicine with a liquid.

Safe and economical

Did you know that grinding one paracetamol already requires a pressure of more than 21 kg? Electric grinding of medication prevents a lot of physical suffering and saves time. That means more hands on the bed. In an age of increasing demand for care and workload, this is an important gain. The danger of dust inhalation is also kept to a minimum by the closed system. The Severo is that safe.
